Hotel budapest guide michelin

Chef Tiago is Portuguese, while his wife Éva is Hungarian, and the menus at this stylish and warmly run restaurant are a joyful celebration of both their nationalities. Dishes are assured and balanced, service is attentive – and if you sit in the front section, you can watch the chefs in action in the open kitchen. Salt Gwendal Poullennec, International Director of the Michelin Guides said: “Both these restaurants are wonderful examples of Budapest’s dynamic restaurant scene. This means that the MICHELIN inspectors have been able to work on the selection for a longer period of time, which had proved vital in the face of all the challenges that the hospitality industry has had to deal with. The Michelin Guide is about more than merely recognising the top chefs; it is about bringing to a wider audience all the hard work and commitment of the restaurant industry as a whole”. Felix Six new restaurantsSix new restaurants have been added to this year’s selection. Esséncia Salt This sophisticated restaurant sits within a boutique hotel and the open kitchen forms an integral part of the stylishly lit room. Rumour Digital form only The MICHELIN guide to Budapest 2021 is being published in digital form only. Gwendal Poullennec said: “The last 18 months have been extremely difficult for the hospitality industry all around the world and our thoughts remain with those who have suffered because of the pandemic. They not only offer fantastic food and are doing something a little different, but they also do so while paying respect to Hungary’s culinary traditions”. The luxurious menu sees caviar sitting alongside signature dishes and grills. • Spago by Wolfgang Puck – the eponymous Austrian chef has brought his fun dining concept to the Matild Palace Hotel; an elegant spot everyone dresses up for. • Hoppá! Bistro – a friendly neighbourhood bistro with lots of regulars; it serves tasty Hungarian dishes with a modern touch. Esséncia and Salt are both new additions to the selection in 2021 and bring the total number of One MICHELIN Starred restaurants in the guide to seven. His strong commitment to sustainable gastronomy means that his restaurant has also been highlighted as one of Michelin’s Green ‘Initiatives’. Some are run by homegrown chefs and restaurateurs, others by those who have gained experience abroad and have now returned to the homeland. • Stand25 Bisztró – this popular spot serving skilfully cooked Hungarian classics is the baby sister of Stand, and has been re-added to the guide in its new location. Chef-owner Szilárd Föld serves intricate, exquisitely constructed dishes, many of which are updated versions of classic Hungarian recipes. This is what gives the city its vitality and means the future is full of promise”. These are restaurants which have been identified as taking positive steps to work in a more sustainable way, and their entries in the Guide come with one-line descriptions of their inspiring practices. • Pasztell – a smart, modern restaurant where you can watch the chefs at work in the state-of-the-art kitchen. Two New One MICHELIN Stars Esséncia Esséncia is run by Tiago & Éva. • Rumour – Jenő Rácz returned home to open this unique restaurant, where a creative menu is served at a counter around an open kitchen. Spago by Wolfgang Puck Gwendal Poullennec commented: “Budapest offers a wonderful choice of restaurants, of many different styles and in many different price bands. Pasztell The updated Budapest selection is available on the MICHELIN Guide’s website hereAnd on the free MICHELIN iOS app and Android app Written by MICHELIN Guide UK Editorial Team • Felix Kitchen & Bar – set in a striking building, whose ceiling will take your breath away. That being said, the MICHELIN inspectors used the same methodology and looked for the same standards as they do in any year; no shortcuts have been taken which would compromise the integrity of the guide.
